Background

The focus of this work will be to determine if a national park designation for this area is the best approach for protection. A collaboration accord between Gwich'in Tribal Council, the First Nation of Nacho Nyak Dun, the Government of Yukon, and the Government of Canada was signed in early 2024. This work plays a critical role in enhancing relationships, deepening connections, and fostering collaboration to advance the implementation of the Peel Watershed Land Use Plan.

The Peel River Watershed Regional Land Use Plan (the "Peel Plan") covers all of the Peel River Watershed in the Yukon Territory.

- That Area is 68,000 square kilometers

The Peel Plan was approved by the Parties (NND, TH, VGFN & GTC) in 2019.

- In June 2020 the Parties formally approved an Implementation Plan for the Peel Watershed Regional Land Use Plan and a Terms of Reference for the Peel Plan Implementation Committee (PPIC).
